THE STOCK MARKET WEAK

A General Decline in Profit Taking This Morning's Feature.

Money Conditions Counteract the Effect of the Northern Pacific Beal Announcement Despite the Realization of Its Vast Importance.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.- The Stock Market opened fairly active, and price changes were characterized by great in regularity. The announcement of the virtual settlement of the Northern Pacific controversy appeared to carry very little marked effect either upon the stocks more or less directly concerned or the general market. While the vast importance of the matter was commonly recognized and ap-preciated, speculative enthusiasm was held in check by the prospect of closer money market conditions as a result of the heavy export movement of gold. London furnished irregular, but gen-

These symptoms indicate that your points of pression for American stocks, and foreign houses continued sellers here upon the opening of business.

Apart from the intelligence respecting the Northern Pacific settlement, there was nothing novel in this morning's news of a financial character. The active features of the early deadings were Union Pacific, which was firm, the Eries, and the Reading stocks, and Amalgamated Copper.

Among the specialties, American Locomotive was conspicuous in a very rapid advance. The United States Steel shares again moved within very narrow imits. Sugar Refining was weak on further reports of disturbed trade conditions, and the cut in the seiling prices for the refined product announced yesterday. The specialty quarter was generally heavy with effective selling of Tennessee Coal and Iron. The Sterling Exchange market opened very firm and in the money market stronger tendencies were displayed.

Before the close of the morning a general dead of the cut was thought might extend further before the end of the week. There is little expectation of a break, however, and many market authorities express the opinion that the upward movement is not yet over.
